

According to this link you have three ways in which you could represent inheritance in a relational database. Most interesting is the last one, the Class Table Inheritance (aka Table Per Type Inheritance).

Using this type of inheritance, implement the database for Zoowsome in SQLite. Make sure to add the basic CRUD operations. (Create, Read, Update, Delete)

Also, consider implementing form pages for each animal (both for creating and editing).